COMMISSION CLASS

The Commission Class, aided by the Student Council, keeps Monte Vista's many activities running - often even smoothly.

The games, dances, assemblies, inter-school relations campus advertising, souvenirs, programs, elections, and a ten thousand dollar budget are all accomplished through the efforts of these student leaders.

The Commission Class is composed of the Associated Student Officers and other interested and qualified students. They meet daily during fourth period in the A.S.B. room. Instructed by the A.S.B. Advisor, Mr. Dan Stewart, and presided over by the A.S.B. President, the class meets and discusses the many activities put before them.

In addition to planning and coordinating activities, the Commission Class functions as the voice of the entire student body, as exemplified in the student survey finding general discontentment with the dress code. It also acts upon the desires of the students, such as it did in constructing the memorial to former Monarchs lost in military action. But, in the final analysis, the power of the Commission Class rests in the support it draws, and the recognition it receives from the student body.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Debby Huyser, President of Student Council, leads the meeting.

One of Debby Huyser's duties as Vice-President of A.S.B., was to preside over the meetings of Student Council. As President of Student Council, Debby instructed the Student Council representatives and other interested students about the various jobs of the council. At the meetings many different types of proposals were discussed and decided upon. These meetings gave the students an opportunity to express their opinions and ideas, and thus become an active part of Monte Vista.

BOY AND GIRL STATE

Chris Barr, Debby Huyser

California Boys' State was held during the summer at the State Fair grounds in Sacramento. Sponsored by the American Legion, the Boys' State Program is designed to acquaint American youth with the fundamentals of local and state government. Aside from the learning experience, which was broadly based and extensive, Chris found the activities, environment, and other participants to be "incredible."

The 850 representatives from all over the state lived for eight days in an open-air cow barn just outside of Sacramento. Extreme heat, total lack of female companionship, and the all-encompassing odor generally found in cow barns, lent an "air of intimate frenzy" to the proceedings. Chris made many friends during his stay in Sacramento, many of whom still correspond with him and several of whom have spent weekends in his home. The boys plan a reunion of their city for next summer, to be held in the Los Angeles area.

Boys' State is set up with seven counties, each divided into three cities of approximately forty boys. The cities held local elections to choose their councilmen and municipal judges. The counties next chose their Boards of Supervisors, and finally the state elected its officials. Chris was the Federalist candidate for the office of state attorney general, losing by only six votes out of 842 cast.

The activities were climaxed with an address by Governor Reagan, a visit to the State Capitol, and an enthusiastically received all-girl performance from Sacramento High School.

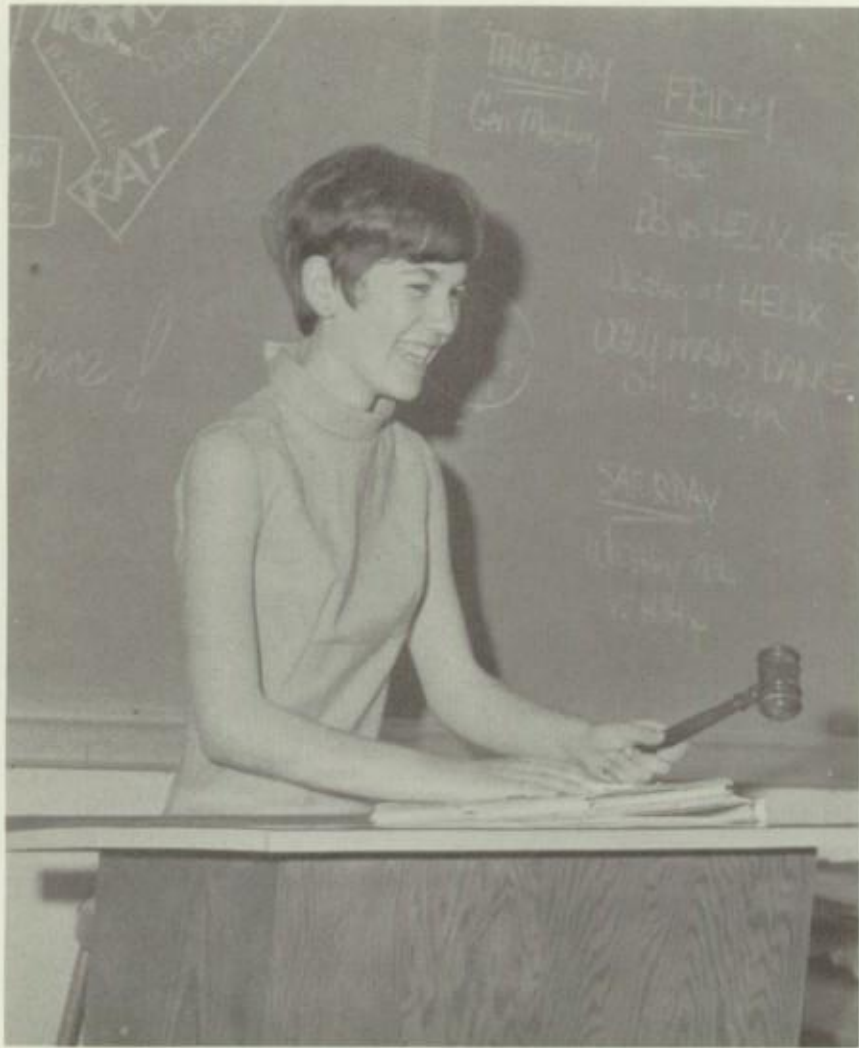

The University of California campus at Davis was the site of California Girls' State this summer. Girls' State is an educational program sponsored annually by the American Legion Auxiliary to provide practical citizenship training for a selected group of high school girls, chosen for outstanding citizenship, scholarship, leadership abilities, and interest in government.

The 559 girls lived at Davis for 8 days. They stayed in four dorms which are used during the year for college coeds. Debby met many girls during her stay in Davis. The girls have already had a reunion held at West Covina.

Girls' State was organized into four counties, each divided into four cities of approximately 30 girls. The cities held local elections to choose their five councilmen and mayor. The counties next chose their Board of Supervisors, sheriff, and county judge. Finally the state elected its officials. Debby was a member of the Tony party. She ran for city councilman and lost by one vote.

During their stay at Davis, the girls found that they lacked one small thing, boys! Debby and her roommate found themselves shining flashlights out of the windows in order to attract the attention of the boys who were taking summer courses at the University. "It never worked," said Debby. "We either got caught by our house mother or the boys got caught by the groundsmen."

The last few days of Girls' State were highlighted by a visit to the state capitol, an address by Governor Reagan and the inauguration of the state officials

Girls' League

The Girls' League of Monte Vista was run by this year's Commissioner of Girls' Activities, Marilyn Prall. Under her guidance the various activities such as Sadie Hawkins' Week, the Mother-Daughter Banquet, and the sale of Christmas cards were successful. Twenty-three girls who formed a Girls' League board worked closely with Marilyn and helped her with the many responsibilities and duties of her office.

Marilyn Prall, President of Girls' League tries to maintain order at one of the meetings.

Boys' Federation

After Tom O'Connell left Monte Vista, Sam Huffman was elected by the Commissioners to fill the office of Boys' Activities.

Tom O'Connell listens intently to the suggestion of a member. This year the Boys' Federation sponsored the Ugly Man Dance, a karate demonstration, and many other activities new to the Monarchy.

Christmas Activities

Mr. Larkin accepts the gifts donated by Monarch students. These gifts were collected to be distributed among the tuberculosis patients who were not able to buy Christmas gifts for the members of their families.

During the Christmas season, the Monarch band, choir, and glee contributed to the festive spirit through their music.

Christmas Dance

Mr. Stewart enthusiastically greets the couples as they enter the dance.

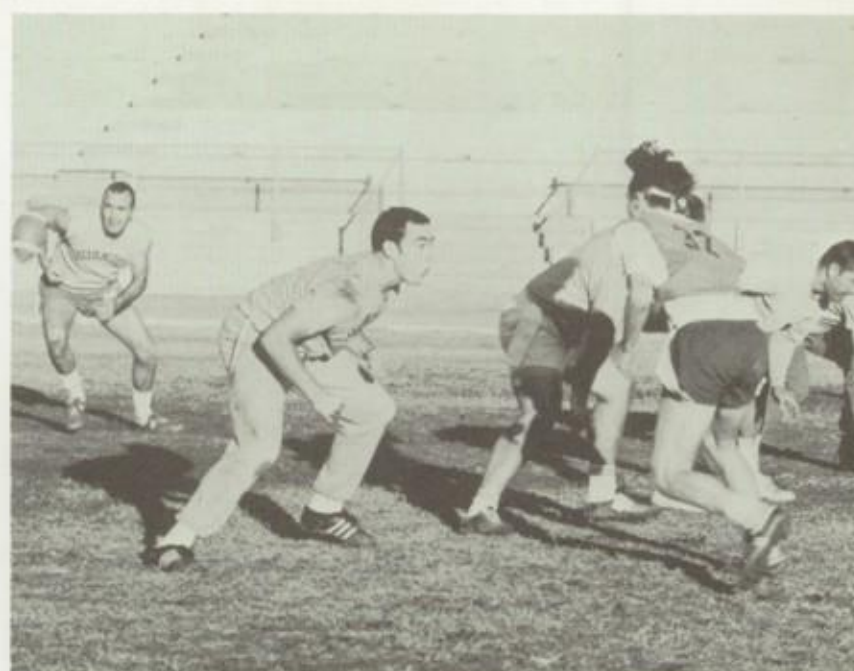

Kathy and Rich admire the Senior entry in the stocking contest—a cake made in the shape of a stocking.

Faculty-Varsity Football

Coach Mendez catches the football to begin another strategic play by the faculty.

The faculty displays some good blocking as Coach Mendez runs for more yardage.

Watch out for the human tank!

Cheerleaders listen to the faculty's discussion of what they believe will be the outcome of the game.

Sweetheart Ball

If facial expressions tell anything, Jesse Bowers looks like he was caught in the act.

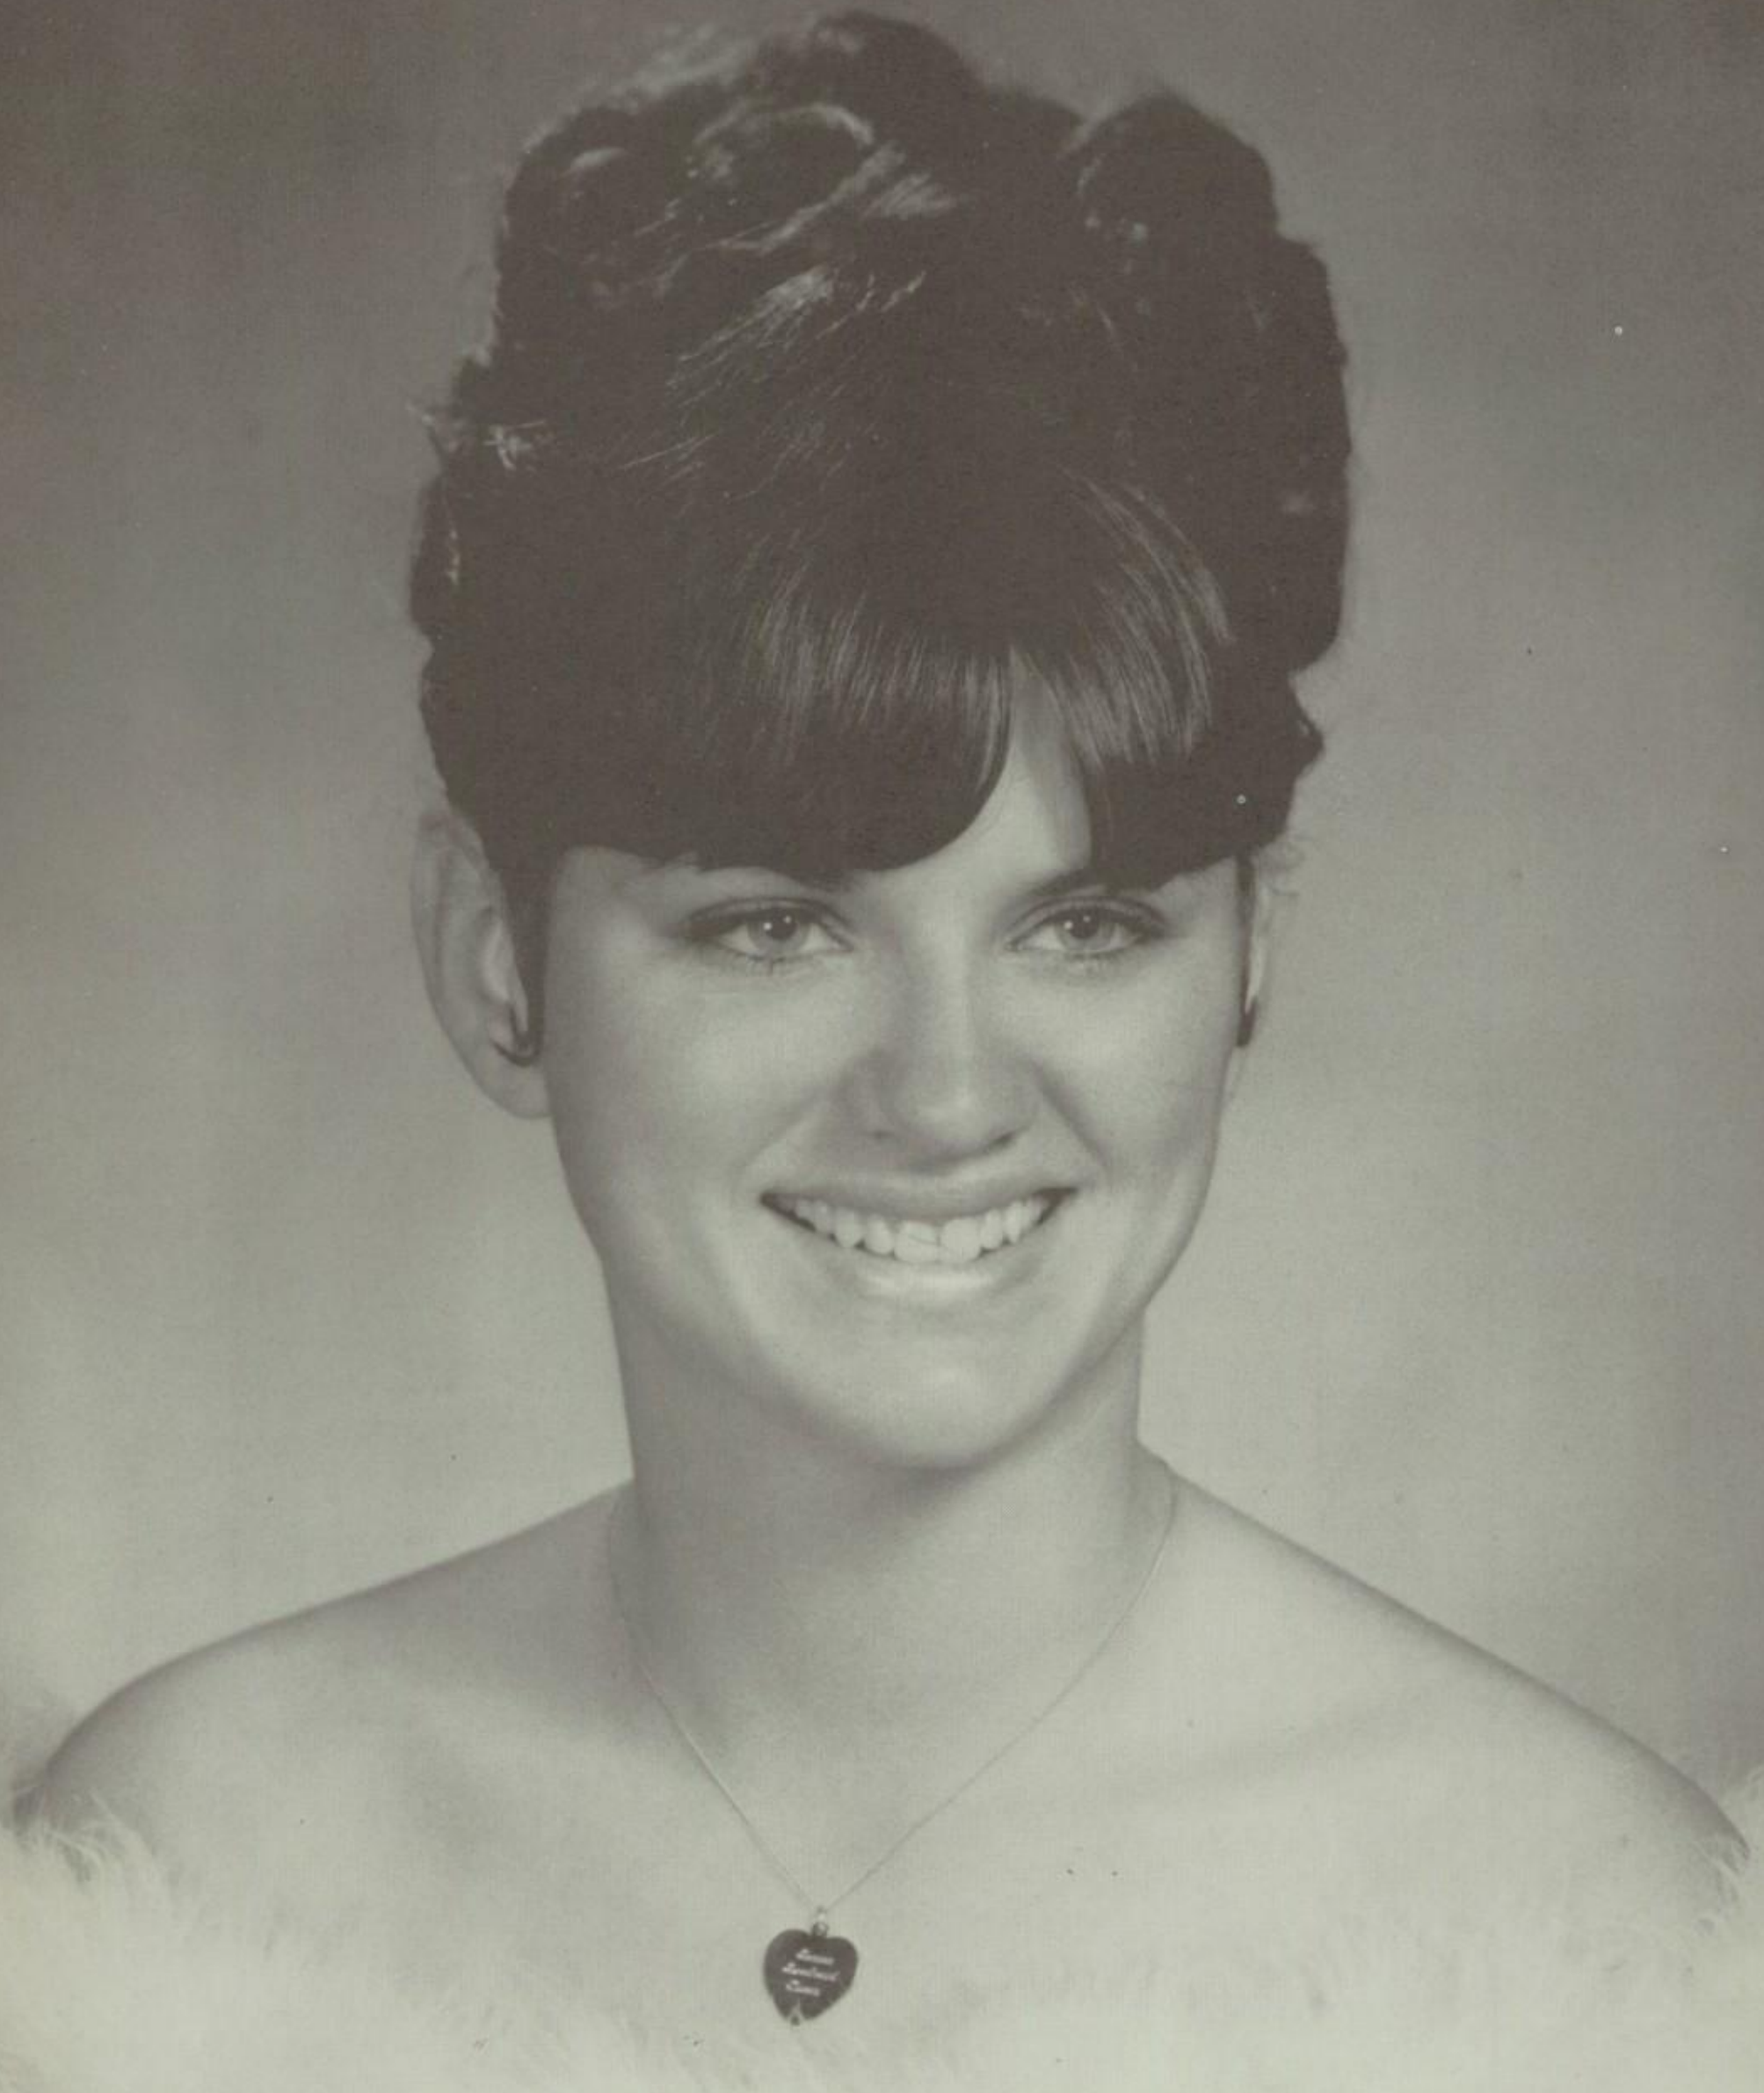

At the ball, Sweetheart princesses Jody Conlon, Kris Unsicker, Sandy Mayberry, Allison Margulis, and queen, Sheri Wilson were presented.

Couples enjoyed dancing to the Mystic Chapter V at the Sweetheart Ball held in the Student Union of San Diego State College.

A solo on the flute was performed by Nadir of Afghanistan.

Frustrating experiences related by Shanti of Ceylon received applause and laughter.

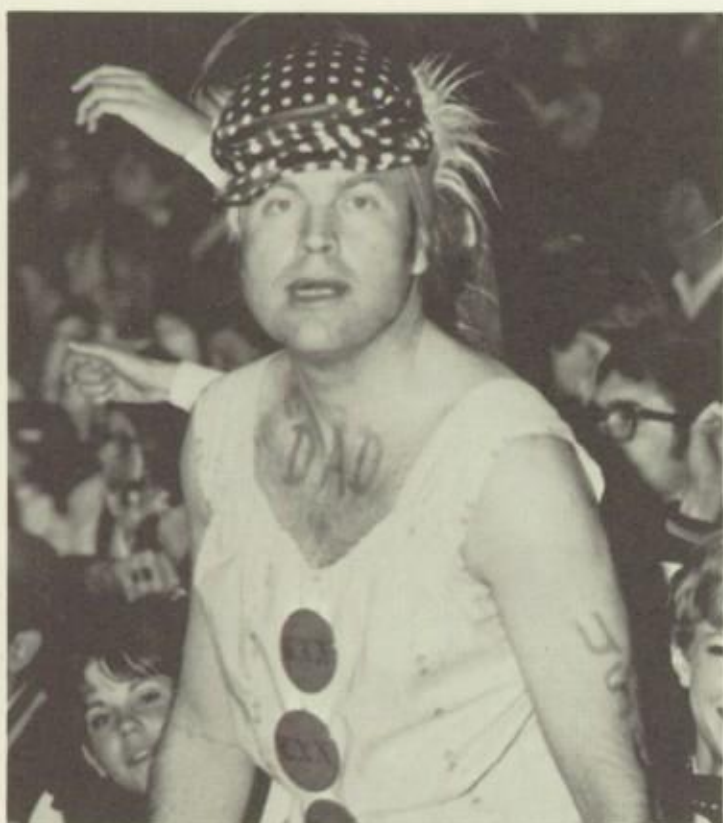

Yothin from Thailand and Glenn Pham, a student at Monte Vista from Vietnam, displayed their boxing ability.

Ignacio entertained the audience by playing the accordion.

Jim Snyder looks for a receiver down court while Bob Womack attempts to steal the ball.

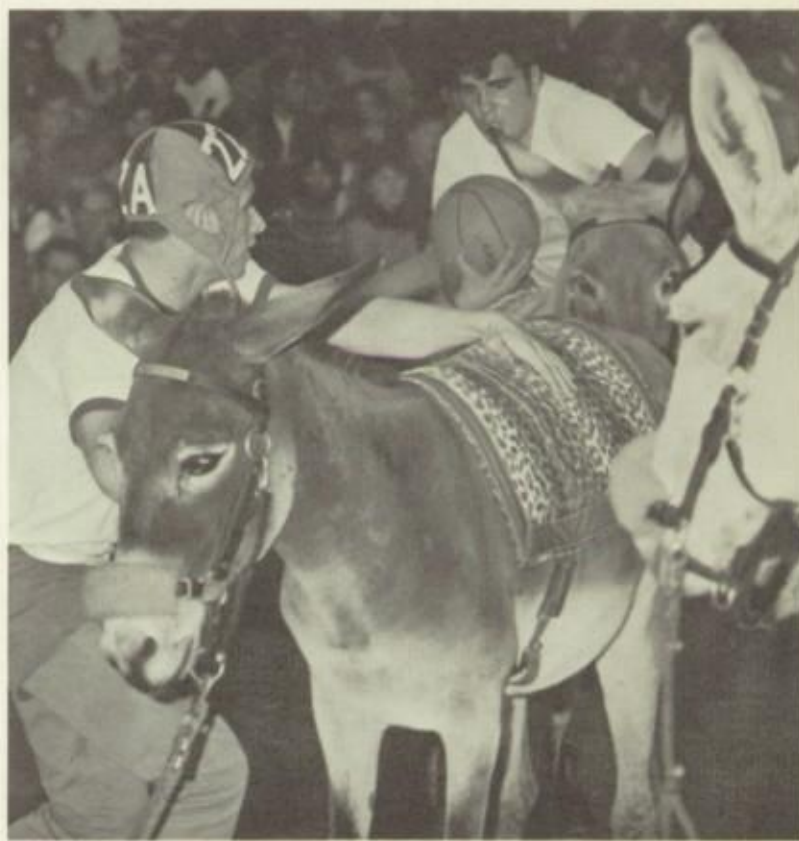

Mr. Cordry helped spark up the spirits of the Juniors.

Donkey Basketball

Sam Huffman puts up a fight to retrieve the ball.

Alan Lambert struggles to keep the ball from Bob Martin.

Pepperdine Assembly

Students from Pepperdine College, the Singing Travelers, entertained the Monarchs with their arrangements of folk songs and ballads.

Karate Demonstration

This year, under the direction of Boys' Federation, a special karate demonstration was presented for all interested students at the Monarchy.

Susie Papike

Susie Papike returned to the United States after spending a year in Australia under the Americans Abroad Program.

Susie was greeted at the airport by her family and many of her friends.

Susie was greeted by many of her friends from Monte Vista.

Susie was excited about being re-united with her family and friends.

Susie appeared to be happy to be back in the United States.

Doug Nelson, president of the International Club, presented Susie with a dozen red and yellow roses and an American flag.

Pops

Members of the cast prepare to board the buses for their performance at Knott's Berry Farm.

The Music Creation plays for an audience at Los Alamitos High School.

The dancers, The Image Five, present their original choreography.

Under the direction of Mr. Snyder, the stage band tunes up for the program.

Concert

The Believers, students from Morse High School who were guests on the tour, performed with the Music Creation.

Denise Jeter, a Monte Vista High School graduate, performs well in front of the crowd.

The cold night air did not affect the nervous Monarch entertainers while they warmed up for the show at the Wagon Train Circle in Knott's Berry Farm.

Fashion Show

To raise money for the stadium fund, the Monte Vista Booster Club sponsored a fashion show. Brenda Hluchan, Becky Christianson, Ruth Langohr, Chris Olson, and Carol Swenson modeled fashions from The Broadway.

Cheer Tryouts

During the voting at lunch, the candidates for cheer sat in the courtyard for identification.

Tryouts for cheer were held in the gym in a special assembly after school.

This year the Monarch Marching Band captured the state's top competitive score of 96.1 at the El Monte Band Review. The band, scoring consistently high all year, won Sweepstakes victories at Tustin, Fallbrook, and El Monte, with 1st place wins at The Autumn Band Review in San Diego, Santa Monica, Chaffey Tournament of Bands and a 4th place finish at Long Beach.

The banner year for the Monarchs can be contributed to endless hours of practice, pride, self-sacrifice, and discipline of each of the band members.

A new ingredient, improved musicianship, was added this year to the Monarch band scheme for success as the band swept music honors at most every competition.

Madrigals

This year proved to be a busy one for all three on Monte Vista's choral groups. During the fall, the entire department worked hard in preparing for the Christmas Concert. Also, the Madrigals gave several public performances for service organizations such as the Kiwanis Club and the P.T.A. In the spring all three groups attended festivals, and the Madrigals, in combination with the stage band, sang in assemblies for two of the local junior highs. At the end of the year, the Concert Choir participated in Monte Vista's 1968-1969 Baccalaureate, a fitting climax to a year of hard work.

Gabriele Muschalek has come to the Monarchy from Bochum, Germany, a city comparable in size to San Diego. She said that when she arrived in America she noticed several differences--the hills for instance, "they were all brown." Also, the school system was different. Instead of attending a gymnasium, taking fourteen subjects, and going to school six days a week, Muschi is now attending Monte Vista, taking six subjects, and enjoying a five day school week.

This year, she has been active in Modern Dance Club, International Club, Senior Class Council, and Gymnastic Club. When she returns to Germany, Muschi plans to study the psychology of advertising.

Susana Reyes has come to us from Trinidad, Uruguay and is living with the Doyle family. This year she has really participated in student life at Monte Vista by becoming involved in International Club, Senior Class Council, and Girls' League. One of her most memorable experiences was her trip to Yosemite in late December. It was her first experience with snow and when trying to ski, she "fell down a lot."

A.F.S. Families

Humor is learning that hamburgers are not eaten with a knife and fork. This was one of Susana's experiences with the Doyle family.

Mary Ann Assof and Pat Gaddis were Muchie's sisters this year. At the Assof household Muchie kept in shape by wrestling with the Assof's son.

Home for Kathy Phillips this last summer was in Angelholm, Sweden, as the guest of the Stahlbrand family. Included in her trip were an 11-day boat cruise to Rotterdam, Holland, and a bus trip through Holland and Germany. According to Kathy, "the people are very reserved. There is no dating system in Sweden, and most young people envy the American system. There are no school dances, but discotheques are very popular. Although almost all the girls' clothes were minis, the boys looked a little more old fashioned in pointed shoes and baggy pants. Very few teenagers have cars since the driving age is 18; they go everywhere by bike." For Kathy, the trip "was a great experience, and the people were just wonderful."

Americans Abroad

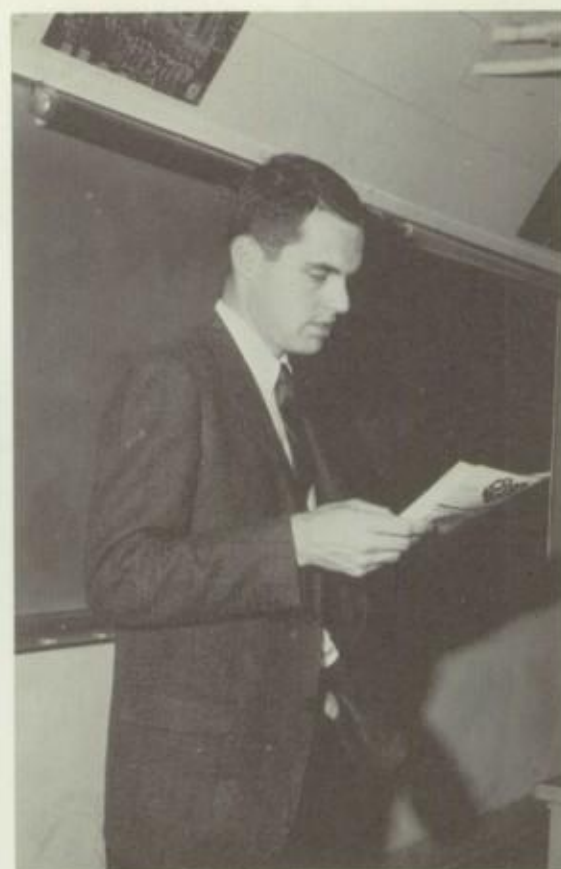

Sue Papike left Monte Vista in January of 1968 for a year-long stay with the Frank McIntosh family in Australia. Returning in her senior year, Sue had many interesting experiences to relate, especially those concerning school. According to Sue, the high school she attended included grades 7-12 and was "strictly for study." Attending school from February to December, she took eighteenth century history, Australian history, English literature, and English. No homework was turned in and no tests were taken until the end of the year when a three-hour exam, made up by the state and corrected by university professors, had to be passed. The week before exams, Sue studied for 12 hours and slept for 12 hours. Reminiscing, Sue concluded with, "Sometime I'd like to go back there. It was just wonderful."

International Club

At a special meeting of the International Club in early December, Mrs. Young spoke to the group about economical ways to tour Europe.

Art and Archaeology

Richard Steiger and Annette Warner, two members of the Art and Archaeology Club, display their artistic talent.

Tim Gross shows officers Jan Brock, Eric Blinman and Marianne Polk the beginning stages of the arrowhead-making process.

Mr. Gray and members of the club listen attentively to a presentation by president Tim Gross.

The primary job of the Art and Archaeology Club is to create a culture and make artifacts for the incoming freshmen of the archaeology and anthropology class to dig up and interpret. Members of the club divide the responsibility; some work on government, some on family life, and still others on transportation or economics or religion. At the end of the year the artifacts are buried on different levels in a confined area. Then during the summer the archaeology and anthropology class excavates the area as a practice dig.

Drama

The Drama Club offered a special array of talent at the presentation of the new lecture room. Here, Monica Fegan and Ernie McHugh put on a scene from "Anastasia."
